The Vessyl Frequency Dome

Nestled beneath the Arenal Volcano in Costa Rica, The Vessyl Frequency Dome is a specialized environment designed for deep sensory experiences and a creative platform for musicians, visual artists, and sound healers.

Through spatial audio, a vibro-acoustic floor, 4K dome projection, and precision acoustic design, the facility transforms performance into a physical journey where guests are part of the soundscape rather than just observers.

Within this environment, artists can create, record, and perform works that are experienced as much as they are heard or seen, using the Dome as a platform for the future of immersive art, live performance, and transformational audio-visual storytelling.

About the Hotel

There are places you visit. And there are places that reveal you to yourself.

The Vessyl Experience, AKEN SOUL was not created as a destination, but as a threshold. A space designed to support real processes of self-discovery and reconnection, where nature, frequency, and ancient wisdom converge with cutting-edge vibrational technology to guide a deeper return to oneself.

Each space has been conceived as a container. Not to impress, but to hold. To support the inward journey. To allow what is already ready to emerge.

The Vessyl Experience, AKEN SOUL is not an experience to be consumed.

It is an experience to be inhabited.

You are the medicine.

We integrate ancestral cooking methods and traditional nutritional principles with modern food science, approaching each ingredient with curiosity and respect. We work with local producers and indigenous foods, honoring the story of the soil, the culture, and the hands that cultivate it.

We combine traditional Maleku techniques, such as nixtamalization, with contemporary approaches, offering a menu that celebrates Costa Rican cuisine alongside modern interpretations.
